

WIRING HARNESS

Wiring harness design and manufacture

RDM offers clients a total package for the design, development and supply of wiring harnesses for a variety of industries ranging from Automotive to industrial all manufactured to ISO9000:2000 quality standards. The harnesses range from single wire assemblies right through to assemblies exceeding 800 wires. Harnesses can be encapsulated in a variety of different finishes ranging from tape, cloth tape, pvc tube, convolute tube through to high wear resistance plastic braid.

RDM also manufactures special requirement harnesses for motorsport and the MOD requiring extended performance cabling and finishes including metal braiding and flame retardant materials.

The company provides clients with other enhanced services such as panel wiring, manufacture of products where the wiring harness is an integral part and the supply of consumable materials, connectors, relays etc.

No project is considered too small or too large. We are specialists at the re-design and cost reduction of current parts as well as providing project management support to enable clients to resource product with minimal disruption.
